Transportation (1986)

Volume contents

Volume 13, No. 1

Preface 3
R. F. Teal & T. Nemer: Privatization or urban transit: The Los Angeles jitney experience 5
B. Flyvbjerg, K. Kahr, P. B. Petersen & J. Vibe-Petersen: Evaluation of public transport: Method for application in open planning 23
M. E. Beesley & P. B. Kettle: Devising business strategy for railways 53
Note
M. J. H. Mogridge: If London is more spread out than Paris, why don't Londoners travel more than Parisians? 85
News item 105

Volume 13, No. 2

T. van der Hoorn, W. van Harreveld, H. Vogelaar & M. van der Vlist: A test of the two-mode UMOT in the Netherlands 113
G. Rose: Transit passenger response: Short and long term elasticities using time series analysis 131
S. J. La Croix, J. Mak & W. Miklius: Airport taxi service regulation: An analysis of an exclusive contract 145
T. G. Golob & H. Meurs: Biases in response over time in a seven-day travel diary 163
E. I. Pas & F. S. Koppelman: An examination of the determinants of day-to-day variability in individuals' urban travel behavior 183

Volume 13, o. 3

W. K. Talley: A comparison of two methodologies for selecting transit performance indicators 201
J. de Cea, J. de Ortúzar & L. G. Willumsen: Evaluating marginal improvements to a transport network: An application to the Santiago underground 211
P. Varlaki & L. Lesley: Modal split and urban public transport management in an Eastern European Country 235

M. Doi & W. B. Allen: A time series analysis of monthly ridership for an urban rail transit line 257
S. Hanson & J. Huff: Classification issues in the analysis of complex travel behavior 271

Volume 13, No. 4

V. M. Puvanachandran: Factors influencing the provision of urban transport infrastructure 295
J. C. Guria & A. E. A. Gollin: Net tax incidence for urban public transit subsidies in New Zealand 319
P. O. Barnard: Use of an activity diary survey to examine travel and activity reporting in a home interview survey: An example using data from Adelaide, Australia 329
D. K. Robbins & P. R. White: The experience of express coach deregulation in Great Britain 359